Congress To-day.

SENATE .- A number of petitions were presented and reports made.

The following railroad bills were then taken up, and ordered to be engrossed:

A bill granting to the State of Florida a grant of land to aid in the construction of a railroad from Pensacola Bay to Montgomery, Alabama, with branches to Mobile and to Georgia.

A bill granting land to Illinois and Indiana to aid in the construction of a railroad from Louisville to St. Louis.

The bills which were pending were ordered to a third reading, granting lands to Florida and Alabama for railroads in these States, were read a third time and passed.

The deficiency bill was then taken up.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES .- Mr. CULLOM asked but did not obtain leave to introduce a resolution, instructing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to inquire into the expediency of purchasing Mount Vernon for the use of the government.

The House, in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, resumed the consideration of the homestead bill.

The "Bolting Whigs."

The Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth does not venture exactly upon a defence of the bolters. but professes to be very much impressed by the magnificence of the demonstration; and therefore assumes to give particular instructions upon the Whig party as to the course of policy it should pursue. It holds in very high veneration the impracticables, and thinks it only reasonable and proper in the great body of the Whig party to bow with deference to their behests. We shall quote what it says of the Whigs of the North:

"A portion of the Whigs of the North-perhaps the greater portion—tell us that they can submit to no new additions to the Whig creed—to no new test of party orthodoxy. They are willing, they say, to let the Compromise stand as it is; they will not attempt the repeal of any part of it; they will not refuse to support a Whig candidate on account of his position in regard to it; they are willing to let the past be past; but as many of them hon-estly disapproved, and still do disapprove, of some of the features of that series of measures, they cannot now subscribe to any approval o them without inconsistency and hypocrisy; and, therefore, while they are willing to leave the Compromise undisturbed, they cannot consent to endorse it, nor agree that any declaration concerning it shall be added to the Whig platform by the National Convention, or any pledge in relation thereto be demanded of the candidate as the condition of his nomination."

If this be so, what has any one to ask of them? The Commonwealth informs us:

it—that is, that they shall declare, in solemn and explicit form, the intention which they have already avowed in less definite modes, viz: that they will not disturb that great adjustment."

To do this effectually would require a change in the constitution of the United States. If the American people regard the Compromise as of such permanent importance as to require the whole people, including its opponents, to solemnly declare that they will never disturb it, we marvel that an addition to that great instrument is not proposed. A law exists confessedly in accordance with the will of a vast amount of the American people; and yet solemn declarations are demanded of all that it shall never be disturbed in the future. Free and enlightened legislation will that be, exacted under such restraints as this! There is not a law on the statute books of our whole country that we would thus bind ourselves to perpetuate forever. To do so with respect to any law, is to vitiate the constitution of our country, and to prostrate the spirit of freedom and self-government forever.

The great charter of English liberty, shaped and intended for all future time, has no higher sanction than this, nor does the prescription in our own constitution call for a mode more authoritative for its amendment and repeal than is here pointed out.

The Compromise laws are indeed fixed and settled, and will long remain so; nor have we the slightest objection to the entire American people's declaring their acquiescence in them; but when it comes to solemn declarations that they or any other human laws under, within, or. if possible, above the constitution, shall never be repealed, we solemnly declare our protest; and if this is to be the new test, we spurn and repu-

Let such a precedent be once established, and we shall henceforth hear of nothing in our Presidential contests but solemn declarations forever to abide by new articles in our political creed, until the constitution shall prove a byword of derision, and free agency shall no longer be the distinguishing mark of an American citizen or

The Commonwealth, however, has discovered, in addition to the foregoing proposition, a very simple and easy mode of arranging the present difficulty in the Whig party, which, it says, is

-"a mode so simple, and lying so much upon the surface of the subject, that it must have oc-curred to many other minds besides ours, although we have nowhere seen it proposed. It is this: Let the North units with the South in securing the nomination of Millard Fillmore, Daniel Webster, John J. Crittenden, or some other eminent statesman whose position on the Compromise is of record in the history of the country. From such a candidate the South will demand no special pledge, nor regard it as a matter of much importance whether the convention which nominates him makes any de-claration upon that subject or not."

This request is so reasonable, so disinterested, so magnanimous, that we can hardly find it in our heart to oppose it! and yet there is an objection or two that we may as well prefer. In the first place, there are some good Whigs of the slaveholding States who are not so well pleased with certain records of some of the gentlemen named as with what they know of General Scott. We shall not now enter into any particulars on this head, but shall no doubt be well enough understood. We say that the record is at least no better testimony on this head for Messrs. Fillmore, Webster, or Crittenden, than can very readily be offered in behalf of General Scott. No better, we say; and this is at present sufficient. And in the second place, we do not comprehend how the rejection of a candidate chosen by the great mass of the Whigs of the country is to appease and conciliate them, when the minority cannot be induced to submit to the rejection of a candidate preferred by them!

There is a great deal of nonsense and absurdity in all these demands, and we wonder much that gentlemen will insist on preferring them. As Mr. Marshall is a prominent, influential, and important member of the bolting fragment of the Whig party, and as he bolted because of his steadfast devotion to Southern interests, we will close these comments by a clip or too from the record with respect to him, in order to see whether real devotion to the interests of the slaveholding States, or some sort of devotion to particular candidates, or hostility to others, lies at the bottom of present dissensions.

The Paducah (Ky.) Journal says: "Hon. Humphrey Marshall is dead set against Gen. Scott, and has written a very indiscreet letter upon the subject. He has also taken ground against the call for a Whig National Conention, unless the Whig members of Congress shall previously make a platform for said convention. The people do not want any platform made for them by Humphrey Marshall and other for them by Humphrey Marshall and other representatives in Congressional caucus; Congressmen are assuming too many powers and privileges, anyhow, and they should not stretch the blanket too far. Why Mr. Marshall should become so ultra in his Southern sympathies and views, all at once, we are at a loss to understand. Time was when he was considered hardly ortho

And the Louisville Courier adds : "Mr. Marshall's conduct has certainly excited some surprise here among those who best know him. Only a few years since, as is well known to hundreds, he was an avowed emancipationist and he made earnest efforts to form an emanci-pation party, independent of the Whig and Democratic parties. Now, however, in order to gain, f possible, the confidence of Southern men. he tries to see how ultra he can be on the other

Agitation.

The anti-slavery movement has been proressive and aggressive. The Whigs and Democrats have resisted its encroachments. They have declared that it was an unnecessary issue in national politics; that the subject was one of State policy alone; that the national councils should not be disturbed by it.

The Whig and Democratic parties unitedly triimphed, and put the subject to rest. The "agitators" acquiesced. They were defeated-they had done all they could do-their tender consciences were clear. They let their arms fall to their sides, and said they would submit. What then? The conservatives must agitate! Agitation on their side promised popularity; and although they had a thousand times declared each successive attempt at agitation a step towards disunion, the promptings of their selfish interests have impelled them onward, and we now witness the anomaly of a professed Union party almost phrensied in their desire to protract a controversy which they have always maintained would itself lead to disunion. .

"Locofocos."

As this name has not been chosen for themselves by the opponents of the Whig party, we never apply it to them. We may often unavoid-"The South does not require of them to ap- ably quote it, but it is not a title we choose to the Democrats! Still let them have the title they ask. Theirs is a great national party, comprising many true Democrats and true patriots. We have too good a cause to mar it by means unbecoming a party of equal importance. Some of them call us Federalists, but few believe their own words. We need not imitate that portion of their party. We can, in the coming contest, well afford to be good-tempered and courteous. Our readers were on Saturday apprized, through our telegraphic despatches, that the Hon. DANIEL WEBSTER had been thrown from his carriage on Saturday morning, near Marshfield, striking his head and right shoulder. We since learn that he was stunned and insensible for a few minutes : but that, though his injuries are severe, they are not considered dangerous. The rumor at first reached Boston that he was fatally injured.

It is expected that Senator Stockton will tonorrow address the United States Senate on the subject of ocean steamers. He will be heard with pleasure and with profit. He has enlarged views and great practical knowledge of his subject. There will no doubt be a crowded auditory, with the customary special privileges to the fair, whom we would, however, advise to go early.

In making the above announcement, it is deemed proper to say that a large number of citizens of all parties, from the several Wards of the city, addressed to Mr. Maury a few days ago a communication expressing their wish to present his name to his fellow-citizens as a caddidate for the Mayoralty at the ensuing election, independent of all questions connected with the politics of the day, and solely in consideration of his long and useful services in the Councils, and of his fitness for the place.

To this communication the following reply has been received:

Whatever might have been my personal wishes on the subject, it would have been difficult for me to resist the friendly call you have made upon me; but, agreeing as I do entirely with all that you have said as to the inexpediency of bringing national politics into our city elections, I most cheerfully place my name at your disposal as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the ensuing election.

THE MAYORALTY.

A 8 the friends of other candidates for this office are already active in their behalf, I desire to present the name of the present incumbent, WALTER LENOX, eq., for re-election. It is to be expected that personal preference will, to some extent, govern the choice of many, but before the community generally, honest and discerning in its decision, is not the proper question, "What is the public interest?" It must be admitted by every reflecting citizen that sudden and uncalled-for chance is not only unjust to interest?" It must be admitted by every reflecting citize that sudden and uncalled-for change is not only unjust the officer, but to the public interest. It takes away the personal motive and ambition which induce the faithful performance of duty, and loses to the public the benefit official experience. If the present incumbent has discharge the duties of the office with ability and zeal, and can her after bring to it the advantage of practical experience, trust that the people of Washington will not use the electificanchise to their own injury and the injustice of a publificer. # THE MAYORALTY.

THE MAYORALITY.

THE return of the biennial election of a city Chief Magistrate is already creating much discussion among our citizens, and it bids fair to be conducted with much spirit. The prominent candidates for the post are Walter Lenox, the present Mayor, and John W. Maury, Alderman, from the Fourth Ward, and the contest it is understood will be tween these two gentlemen. I desire to submit a few words on the subject to the consideration of my fellow-citi-

For a long period of years it has invariably been the custom of our city to compliment a Mayor, after a first term with a re-election, should be desire it, unless serious an weighty objections to his administration of the city affair should present an obstacle. The question then occurs, doe such objections lie against the present incumbent? It is conceded on all sides that his administration has been marke with an efficiency, promotness, and impartiality which r iciency, promptness, and impartiality which i ceives the commendation of all who have paid attention to the subject; and that his superior in these respects has never occupied the post. He devotes his whole attention to the office, and sets a practical example to his subordinates re-specting their duties, and vigilantly exacts their perform-ance. No distinction is observed in his office between the most humble and those in more exalted stations, but all are received alike and in the exact order of their application, without exception.

received alike and in the exact order of their application, without exception.

In regard to his competitor, Mr. Maury, it is also known that for a long period he has been an active and efficient member of the City Councils, and at present an Alderman of that class whose term of office does not expire until the next year. Why, then, displace the present Mayor, elect Mr. Maury, and create a vacancy in the Board of Aldermen: But one reason suggests itself to the impartial inquirer, and I shall allude to it as delicately as possible, but for the purpose of fixing the attention of our citizens to that point. Politics have been eschewed in our elections for a long time by both parties, though it is well known that the friends of the present administration are largely in the matime by both parties, though it is well known that the friends of the present administration are largely in the majority here, and have been since the foundation of the city. The present incumbent belongs to that party, and Mr. Maury is a Democrat, though, knowing such fact, the writer of this, who is decidedly on the other side, has always voted for him for the City Councils. Within the last few months the Jackson Democratic Association has been reorganized, and it is now understood that, with scarce one exception, every member of that Association will vote for Mr. Maury, as a Democrat, though many of them two years ago, when Mr. Lenox was untried, were his ardent supporters. It is true that Mr. Maury's nomination and sceeptance are stated to be without reference to politics; but is it not apparent that, while this Association nearly cs masse support him, not for personal preferences, but as the most available Democrat, this assertion of no party is only a trap to draw material aid from the other side?

tion of no party is only a trap to the material and from the other side?

Mr. Lenox is not a candidate for re-election upon party grounds. His friends place his claims upon his efficiency and qualifications, and the customary practice of re-lecting a competent Mayor the second term. He is, however, a Whig; and, on the eve of a Presidential election, immediately after the nomination of the Democratic candidate for President, in Baltimore, his defeat, and the election of Mr. Maury, would be hersided throughout the country as a Democratic triumph for the first time in Washington city, and a prectige for a National Democratic triumph in November.
